

Cancun Mexico

By Anthony Mania

One summer day, I went to Cancun, Mexico. I came to my beautiful, enormous hotel. It smelled so clean. So my dad got the keys for our room. Then when I looked around, there were stores everywhere. It looked so cool! I wanted to burst into flames! I was so excited!

Next we went in the super cool elevator and up to floor five. Then, we unpacked and found out this was not our room, so we went down the elevator and told the people that worked there that our room was wrong. So they said tomorrow we would get another room. So we did and we got breakfast at a restaurant. Then we changed into our bathing suit and went in the pool. After the pool, we went to the beach. I played in the soft, cozy beautiful sand it was so soft on my toes. Then I went on a shiny clean jet ski in the cool crisp water, it was beautiful. It was also rough but I did it.

The next day at breakfast we became friends with a waiter; he was nice. So then we got our bathing suits and went to the water park. It was awesome! I went down the water slide it soaked me.

Then after 4 days we went back to America.

The end

The great paradise
